Question 1:

Read the following then answer the question:

. People need food, water and air, which are all essential for survival. They cannot live without food to eat and oxygen to breathe.

Hundreds of years ago, it was easy to get food and housing. The population was low and there was little industry. There was enough good land, clean water and fresh air. However, in the eighteenth century, the industrial revolution began in England. The western world changed from an agricultural world to an industrial one. Many people moved from villages to cities in order to work. Industry grew very quickly. Since 1850, both the population and industry have increased very rapidly. People need more land; more water and more resources daily. Industry affects the environment. Some of the effects are harmful, such as pollution.
